NO MEDICAID CUTS

The Republican Plan for Medicaid Will Harm West Virginia

More than 510,000 West Virginians rely on Medicaid and the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP).

Republican Cuts to Medicaid Put West Virginians' Health and Coverage At-Risk

Every proposal on the Republican wish list of more than $2 trillion in Medicaid cuts is bad news for West Virginians. Medicaid cuts would harm children, older adults, and families, ripping away their health care access and coverage. Republican Medicaid cuts would:

Cut Care for Children. Around 45% of children in West Virginia are enrolled in Medicaid or CHIP. Around 61% kids with special health care needs, such as a physical or behavioral disability, rely on Medicaid in West Virginia. Cuts would disproportionately hurt children with the lowest incomes and the highest health care needs.

Block Access for Pregnant Women and Newborns. Nearly 7,700 births (46%) in West Virginia per year are covered by Medicaid. A cut to Medicaid would prevent mothers and babies from getting the care they need.

Increase Disparities for Communities of Color. Around 14% of children and adults with Medicaid in West Virginia are people of color. A decrease in Medicaid funding would reduce access for the communities that need it the most.

Curb Health Care Access for People with Disabilities. Medicaid covers more than 130,000 people with a disability in West Virginia. Only 39% receive Supplemental Security Income, meaning many do not qualify for Medicaid on the basis of their disability and could be subject to Republican policies like work reporting. People with disabilities often depend on Medicaid for services in order to thrive in their communities.

Create Barriers to Behavioral Health Services. More than 59,300 Medicaid beneficiaries were treated for a substance use disorder West Virginia in 2021. Medicaid cuts and eligibility restrictions threaten lifesaving treatment for people with behavioral health needs.

Cut Coverage for Medicare Beneficiaries.

Nearly 86,000 dually-eligible West Virginians rely on Medicaid to help pay their Medicare premiums and co-pays. For these enrollees, a cut to Medicaid is a cut to Medicare.

Disrupt Nursing Home Care. Cuts to Medicaid could disrupt care for 77% of nursing home residents in West Virginia who use Medicaid to pay for care in a nursing home.

Bottom Line:

Republican proposals to cut Medicaid will result in West Virginians losing Medicaid coverage—and there is no acceptable coverage loss. No Medicaid cuts to West Virginians to fund tax handouts to billionaires.
